New high school to include 'learning communities' of 300-400 students

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

An architect's group showed off several rough sketches of possible layouts of a new West Sacramento high school on June 9, as school board members and district officials looked on. The early-stage design work entails ideas for how to put a high school southeast of Jefferson Boulevard and Linden Road – just south of the new Nugget Market center. The school will ultimately house up to 3,000 students.

Some of the themes of last week's "high school vision" discussion included:

■ Possible "phasing" of the school's construction, since fewer classrooms may be needed at first.

■ The necessity of setting a target ratio for the number of teachers serving the students, so that the number of kids in each class – and the number of classrooms – can be determined.

"One of the things that's going to be critical to the space problem is the ratio of teachers to students," commented John Blackwell of architect DLR Vitello Associates. "Also, what is a 'small learning community'?"

District officials have talked about creating "small learning communities" of perhaps 300 to 400 students each, to create small-school learning environments on the large campus.

■ Entry to the new campus would probably be from Linden Road, across from the Nugget market center. There could be secondary driveways into the 93-acre proposed site, including one perhaps across from Higgins Road.

■ A "showcase" corner might be created at the high visibility intersection of Jefferson and Linden.

"For some reason, the (proposed) performing arts center kind of makes its way to that corner to become that statement," said Brian Meyers of DLR Vitello.

■ Space will be tight, especially after factoring in the required stormwater retention pond and planned athletic fields.

"You kind of see that (this acreage) doesn't get you as far as you might think," said Meyers.

■ The classrooms will probably be two-stories tall, probably each including 12 classrooms per floor to create each "cluster" of classes on the campus. There could be a single science facility to serve all the "learning communities."

■ Designers emphasized that the campus must be designed for the long run – even for a century of use.

"You're probably going to have three or four retail centers built on (the Nugget site) during the time this is in use," said one architect.

■ Some facilities, such as a planned aquatic facility, could see joint use with the city and West Sacramento community sharing it with the high school. Such "joint uses" are a topic of discussion at the school board's meeting this Thursday, and have yet to be ironed out.

Also on the agenda is a recommendation by district staff to include the district's "alternative" school as part of the new high school campus. Currently, Yolo High School serves as the alternative high school, located separately from the primary campus of River City High School.

The district estimates a construction budget for the new school of about $75, including proceeds from a successful local school bond measure. Not all the needed land has yet been acquired for the project.

When do you stop worrying about your kids?

My Back Pages

By Daryl Fisher

After having worked for the past decade or so in downtown Sacramento, my twenty-something daughter recently took a new job in San Francisco that she will start next month. It means she will finally get to escape the summer Sacramento Valley heat and smog that she so dislikes and live by her beloved ocean, meet all kinds of new and interesting people, make more money, and work in a field she really enjoys. So like any father would be, I am of course happy for her. Well, kinda. Because her new job also means she will now be a hundred miles away from home (at least my home) and instead of driving just ten minutes from her old apartment to visit her family in West Sacramento, that trip will now take her almost two hours, depending on the traffic. So it seems more than likely that instead of getting to see my daughter every few days, it will most likely be every few weeks, or even every few months.

She has assured me that her new apartment is in a safe area, that her new roommates are wonderful (their three sweet dogs were apparently what finally brought all the San Francisco apartment hunting to an end), and that the phone company she uses will allow her to call home whenever she wishes.

Anyway, when I was sharing this bittersweet news the other evening with a longtime family friend (I'll call her Jan Pierce), she said sympathetically, "So, Daryl, it looks like you're finally going to lose your little baby?"

"Yes, I'm afraid so."

"So, how old is she now?" Jan asked with a smile. "Thirty?"

When I later told my daughter what Jan had said, she said, "Really, Dad, you have to stop worrying about me. Everything is going to be just fine."

With that in mind, I came across the following article the other day, the author of which I'm afraid I don't know, but I shall pass it along anyway, for all of you other parents out there who also want to know, "When Does The Worrying Stop?":

Is there a magic cutoff point when offspring become accountable for their own actions? Is there a wonderful moment when parents can become detached spectators in the lives of their children and shrug, "It's their life?"

When I was in my twenties, I stood in a hospital corridor waiting for doctors to put a few stitches in my son's head. I asked, "When do you stop worrying?" The nurse said, "When they get out of the accident stage." My mother and father just smiled at me and said nothing.

When I was in my thirties, I sat on a little chair in a classroom and heard how one of my children talked incessantly, disrupted the class, and was headed for a career making license plates. As if to read my mind, a teacher said, "Don't worry, they all go through this stage and then you can sit back, relax, and enjoy them."

When I was in my forties, I spent a lifetime waiting for the phone to ring, the cars to come home, the front door to open. A friend said, "They're trying to find themselves. Don't worry, in a few years, you can stop worrying. They'll be adults."

By the time I was fifty, I was still worrying over my children and there seemed to be nothing I could do about it. I continued to anguish over their failures and be tormented by their frustrations.

My friends said that when my kids got married I could finally stop worrying about them and lead my own life. I wanted to believe that, but I was haunted by my own father's occasional, "You look pale. Are you all right? Call me the minute you get home. Are you depressed about something?"

Can it be that parents are sentenced to a lifetime of worry? Is concern for one another handed down like a torch to blaze the trail of human frailties and the fears of the unknown? Is concern a curse or is it a value that elevates us to the highest form of life?

One of my children became quite irritable recently, saying to me, "Where were you? I've been calling for three days, and no one answered the phone. I was worried to death."

I smiled a warm smile. I knew that the torch had been successfully passed.

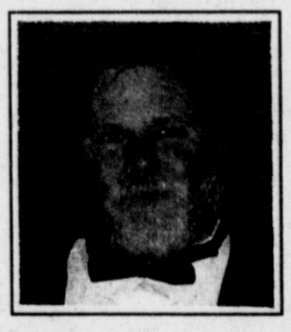
Merle and Barbara have lived in West Sacramento for 35 years.

Obituaries

Lance Moore Shaw Sr.



Lance Shaw passed away on June 10, 2004. He was born in Woodland, California and lived in West Sacramento until his early 20's when he moved his young family to Seattle, Washington. He and his wife, Denice Shaw, raised their sons along with a few nephews there for 22 years before moving back to West Sacramento to help care for an aging mother and spend time with his family here. He was a mother hen and loved nothing better than to have all of his family near so he could provide the love and affection he gave so unselfishly. To his family, Uncle Lance was the one to call when they were in need.

Left to cherish the memory of this special man are his wife, Denice; their sons, Lance Jr. and wife Jennifer Shaw and grandchildren Nadine and Tyler, Anthony and wife Misty Shaw and weekend son Dale, his nephews Kyle, Ross, Cyrus and Glen; his father, Gill Shaw; brothers Bobby, Bryan, Leonard and Gary; sisters Karla, Candi and Sandy; nephews Dustin, Kenny, Stephen, Ryan and Andrew; nieces Michelle, Crystal and Jenny; and many loving friends. Lance was preceded in death by his loving mother, Maxine Shaw. Besides the love of his life, Denice, and his family, Lance loved nothing more than boats, fishing and his Harley.

Funeral Services will be held on June 16, 2004 at 1 p.m. in the River Cities Funeral Chapel in West Sacramento.

Real Estate Prognosis Report

David Trussell

We will continue to see strong economic growth and a healthy real estate market at least through year 2006. Mortgage interest rates will continue to climb, but only modestly. That's the consensus opinion of most experts at this point.

"With strong economic growth expectations, interest rate increases will be modest due to continued low inflation," said Doug Duncan, MBA's chief economist.

"With inflation under control in the presence of a growing economy, the 30-year mortgage rate will rise to slightly more than 7 percent by the end of the three-year forecast period. From a historical perspective, these are very modest interest rate increases for the level of economic growth we are expecting, and should cause few adjustment problems for the housing industry."

Home prices are expected to continue increasing, with prices of existing homes increasing by 4.5 percent this year (nationally), and new home prices rising by 0.7 percent. Price increases next year and in 2006 are expected to be in the 4 percent range. There are, of course, some markets where prices are rising at a much greater rate than national averages.

adequate response time coverage to all of our neighborhoods in all parts of our town, not only do we need additional firefighters, but additional fire stations.

Our fire department has tried to adapt by relying on "mutual aid" agreements with Davis and Sacramento, and by simply making due with less staff and deficient facilities.

Any assistance under those mutual aid agreements would depend on any fires or emergencies the Davis and Sacramento fire departments may already be responding to.

The unfortunate fact is that based on the current staffing of our fire department, our community is at risk and we are playing a dangerous game of roulette. Our fire department simply does not have the firefighters to handle more than one fire or other emergency at once, on its own.

Firefighting equipment is expensive. The suits worn by firefighters each cost about $4,500. Building stations and training facilities are also major financial commitments.

A more fiscally sensible approach may be to investigate the possibility of entering into a services agreement with the Sacramento Metropolitan Fire District or the City of Sacramento Fire Department to provide fire services to West Sacramento, rather than the city employing the fire staff directly.

Many cities in California have done this, such as Rancho Cordova and Citrus Heights and many communities in the Los Angeles area, with good results. By having all firefighters organized under one roof, equipment can be bought in large quantities at better negotiated prices, there would be uniformity in equipment, and we would be able to have the firefighters we need in West Sacramento, likely at a reduced cost.

Such an agreement could provide that West Sacramento firefighters have uniforms that say West Sacramento, drive equipment with West Sacramento painted on them, and have stations identified as West Sacramento Fire. They would continue to be OUR firefighters.

We need a plan now on how we can assure our residents and those moving into our city that they can depend on our fire services for a quick response. The first step would be to have a study conducted to determine the feasibility of contracting with the Sacramento Metropolitan Fire District to provide fire services, and allow public input into the process. That study may show that contracting for our fire services is the best alternative available.

POLICE LOG

June 9, 7:47 p.m.

A 49-year old Sacramento man contacted a woman who was walking the streets on West Capitol Avenue and offered to be her pimp, providing protection and alerting her to the presence of any police. The woman was an undercover police prostitution decoy. The man went to jail.

June 10, 3 a.m.

Officers were dispatched regarding a female subject driving a full-size pickup truck on the high school football field. The driving caused more than $400 in damage to the lawn and sprinklers. The female showed signs of intoxication, and was arrested.

June 10, 4:15 p.m.

An undercover officer contacted a 38-year old West Sacramento woman during a police prostitution sting operation. The woman agreed to perform a sex act for money. During a consent search of the woman's room, a glass narcotics pipe was found.

June 10, 8:12 p.m.

Officers responded to an area near 15th Street and Alabama Ave. were "chasing each other" after being involved in a physical fight. An officer saw one of the cars traveling 50 m.p.h. in a residential area, going through four stop signs. When the officer pulled over the car, a 21-year old West Sacramento man driving it fled on foot but was caught. He admitted his license was suspended. An 18-year old passenger was chased by an officer and refused to get on the ground. A Taser was used to subdue him and he was arrested and released with a notice to appear in court.

June 11, 11:34 p.m.

An officer saw a 22-year old West Sacramento man driving southbound on Jefferson Blvd., straddling the center divide into the northbound lanes. A traffic stop was conducted, and the patrol car pulled up behind the subject's car. The subject then backed his car into the patrol car. He smelled of alcohol and was arrested.

June 12, 5:15 p.m.

A Harbor Blvd. credit union reported two incidents of automatic teller machine fraud.

June 12, 7:50 p.m.

Officers responded to the report of a man's body floating in the Sacramento River near the Tower Bridge. The body was believed to be that of a missing person from Sacramento.

June 12, 9:40 p.m.

Officers received information that a 30-year old "armed and dangerous" parolee at large was at a Hardy Drive home. There was a felony warrant for the man's arrest in connection with an "assault with a deadly weapon" charge. The man was found hiding in a bedroom, but refused to come out. A police dog helped take him into custody. The man was given medical treatment by firefighters, then booked.

June 13, 10:19 a.m.

An officer located four ten-gallon metal containers with a yellow powdery substance. The material was determined to be aluminum phosphate, and hazardous materials handlers from the fire department cleaned it up.

June 13, 1:10 p.m.

An officer responded to the report of a woman cutting her wrists. She was hospitalized.

June 13, 2:53 p.m.

An 82-year old man reported that he had been trying to use a pay phone on Poplar Avenue when a man grabbed him and reached into his shirt pocket, taking $30 in cash. The suspect left in a vehicle.

June 13, 5:45 p.m.

At Sutter Memorial Hospital, a West Sacramento woman gave birth to a baby she said she didn't want. The infant was taken into care of Child Protective Services.

June 13, 5:17 p.m.

An officer was dispatched to a West Capitol location regarding a subject who was panhandling and had thrown an object at a person. The officer contacted a 37-year old female transient who smelled of alcohol. She was judged too drunk to care for herself and arrested.

June 13, 7:50 p.m.

An officer saw a 45-year old male driver pick up a prostitute. When he later exited the car, the officer contacted him. There were two arrest warrants and a suspended driver's license. The man was arrested.

June 13, 6 p.m.

A West Capitol Ave. man told police his girlfriend struck him with a beer can at about 5:30 p.m. When told by police that the woman (referenced in the above "panhandler" incident) had been on her way to jail at that time, he told them to "forget about it."

June 13, 8:53 p.m.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

• It's been recorded that in the 1800s in the American West there lived a mountain man named Jim Bridger who became famous for memorizing most of the plays written by William Shakespeare. This feat is all the more remarkable due to the fact that he was illiterate.

• It was noted wit George Burns who observed, "By the time you're 80 years old you've learned everything. You only have to remember it."

AMENDED NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF CLAIRE W. HAMILTON
CASE NUMBER PB04-078

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of Claire W. Hamilton:

ALL REFERENCES TO "PETITION" HEREIN ARE TO THE AMENDED PETITION FOR PROBATE FILED HEREWITH.

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Albert P. Robinson in the Superior Court of California, County of Yolo.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Albert P. Robinson be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on 7/8/04, at 8:30 a.m. in Dept. 11 at Yolo County Superior Court, 812 Court Street, Woodland, CA 95695.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided in Probate Code section 9100. The time for filing claims will not expire before four months from the hearing date noticed above.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a "Request for Special Notice" (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A "Request for Special Notice" form is available from the court clerk.

ORDINANCE 04-11
OF THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF WEST SACRAMENTO AMENDING CHAPTER 2.18 OF THE MUNICIPAL CODE RELATED TO CAMPAIGN CONTRIBUTION LIMITATIONS

The City Council of the City of West Sacramento does ordain as follows:

Section 1.

The City Council hereby desires to update the Campaign Contribution Limits Code.

Section 2.

Chapter 2.18 of the Municipal Code is hereby amended to read as follows.

Sections:
2.18.010 Title.
2.18.020 Findings.
2.18.030 Purpose and intent.
2.18.040 Definitions.
2.18.50 Contribution limitations.

2.18.110 Effective date of contribution limitations.
2.18.120 Application of state laws.
2.18.130 Enforcement.
2.18.140 Severability.

2.18.010 Title.

This chapter may be cited as the "Campaign Contribution Limits Code" of the city of West Sacramento.

2.18.020 Findings.

The city council of the city of West Sacramento finds and declares as follows:

A. The policy of this city is to protect the integrity of the electoral process. Local government should serve the needs and respond to the wishes of all citizens equally, without regard to their wealth.

B. Monetary contributions to political campaigns are a legitimate form of participation in the political process, but the financial strength of certain individuals or organizations should not permit them to exercise a disproportionate or controlling influence on the election of candidates for municipal office.

C. The increasing amounts of expenditures in political campaigns have forced many candidates for elective office to raise larger and larger sums from individuals or interest groups with a specific financial stake in city matters. This can cause a public perception that the decisions of the mayor and city council members are being improperly influenced by monetary contributions. These perceptions can undermine the credibility of the mayor and the city council and the elective and governmental processes.

D. The best interests of the citizens of the city are served by reducing direct and indirect campaign contributions.

E. The city finds that limitations on contributions of money, services and materials by individuals or groups to municipal election campaigns should be imposed by law to protect the public health, safety and welfare. These limitations, however, should be reasonable so as not to discourage personal expression or participation in the political process.

F. Campaign spending for municipal office campaigns is escalating to dangerous and unreasonable levels. The integrity of the legislative process, the competitiveness of campaigns, and public confidence in elected municipal officials are all diminishing because of the perceived effects of large campaign contributions.

2.18.030 Purpose and Intent.

The city council of the city enacts this chapter to accomplish the following purposes.

A. To encourage public trust in the electoral and decision-making processes of the city, and to ensure that individuals and interest groups have a fair and equal opportunity to participate in the elective and legislative process;

B. To reduce the potential for influence by large contributors with a specific financial stake in matters before the city, thus countering the perception that decisions of municipal officials are influenced by the size of contributions rather than by the merits of proposals and the best interests of the people of the city;

C. To encourage smaller contributions;

D. To help ensure public trust in the city's legislative and electoral institutions;

E. To limit the use of loans and credit in the financing of political campaigns for city elective office;

F. To provide, in conjunction with the Political Reform Act and the regulations adopted by the California Fair Political Practices Commission implementing the Political Reform Act, a comprehensive system for regulating the conduct of campaigns for city elective office, including but not limited to the provisions of state law which prohibit any controlled committee of a candidate from making independent expenditures and from contributing funds to another committee for the purpose of making independent expenditures (Government Code Section 85501) and which prohibit defined officials from receiving or soliciting campaign contributions of more than two hundred fifty dollars from defined persons during proceedings before the city in which such defined persons are interested and for three months thereafter (Government Code Section 84308).

2.18.040 Definitions.

Unless a particular word or phrase is otherwise specifically defined in this chapter, or the contrary is stated or clearly appears from the context, the definitions set forth in the Political Reform Act of 1974 (Government Code Sections 81000 et seq.) shall govern the constructions, meaning and application of words and phrases used in this chapter. References to particular sections of the Government Code or other statutes or laws, including references in this section, shall be deemed to include any changes to such sections, statutes or laws, including any amendments, deletions, additions, renumberings or recodifications that may occur subsequent to the enactment of the ordinance codified in this chapter.

"California Political Reform Act" means the California Political Reform Act, Government Code Sections 81000 et seq., and implementing regulations promulgated by the Fair Political Practices Commission set forth in Title 2 of the California Administrative Code Sections 18000 et seq., as they may be modified from time-to-time.

"Campaign contribution account" means an account established pursuant to California Government Code Section 85201.

"Candidate" means an individual who has filed a statement pursuant to California Government Code Section 85200 indicating an intent to run for city elective office.

"City" means the city of West Sacramento.

"City elective office" means the office of mayor and the office of city council member.

"Contribution" means contribution as defined in California Government Code Section 82015, and shall include nonmonetary contributions, extensions of credit, and loans (including credit card advances) to the extent that these are considered contributions pursuant to California Government Code Section 84216, subject to the following:

1. Unsecured Loans. Except as otherwise provided in paragraph 3, if the loan is not secured or guaranteed, it shall be considered a contribution from the lender and shall be subject to the contribution limits of this chapter.

2. Secured or Guaranteed Loans. Notwithstanding California Government Code Section 84216, a loan which is secured or guaranteed shall be considered a contribution from the lender and guarantor or person whose property secures the loan, and shall be subject to the contribution limits of this chapter, except as otherwise provided in paragraph 3.

3. Loans to Candidates from Commercial Lending Institutions. A loan made to a candidate by a commercial lending institution in the regular course of business on the same terms available to members of the public which is either unsecured, personally guaranteed by the candidate, or secured by property owned by the candidate, shall not be considered a contribution from the lender. Such loans shall, however, be considered a contribution of personal funds from the candidate for the purpose of Section 2.18.050A.

"Controlled committee" means a controlled committee as defined in California Government Code Section 82016.

"Election cycle" means:

1. For general elections to city elective office, except as provided in paragraph 4, the period from the day after the election until the day of the next election for the same city elective office;

2. For special elections to city elective office, the period from the day on which the seat becomes vacant until the day of the special election;

3. In the case of a recall, the period from the date of the filing of the notice of intention to circulate a recall petition until the date of the election. This election cycle shall also apply to candidates to fill a vacancy in the city elective office that may be created by such recall;

4. In the case of the November 2, 2004 mayoral election, the period from March 2, 2004 until November 2, 2004.

"Independent expenditure" means those expenditures defined in California Government Code Section 82031.

"Independent expenditure committee" means, for purposes of this chapter, persons, as defined in this chapter, whose primary purpose or objective is to make Independent expenditures for or against any candidate for city elective office.

"Late contribution" means a late contribution as defined in California Government Code Section 82036, except that for purposes of this chapter, the dollar threshold contained in Section 82036 shall be revised to read one hundred dollars.

"Person" means an individual or any proprietorship, labor union, firm, partnership, joint venture, syndicate, business trust, company, corporation, association, political action committee, committee or any other entity or organization or group of persons, however organized.

2.18.050 Contribution Limitations.

A. Contribution Limits to City Council Elections.

1. Limitation on Contribution from Persons to Candidate for City Elective Office. No person shall make, and no candidate for city elective office or a controlled committee of said candidate or person acting by or on behalf of said candidate or said candidate's controlled committee shall accept, any contribution which would cause the total amount contributed by that person during any election cycle to the candidate, or to the candidate's controlled committee, to exceed two hundred fifty dollars.

2. Contribution of Personal Funds to a Candidate's Own Campaign. Nothing in this section is intended to limit the amount a candidate may contribute to his or her campaign for city elective office from his or her personal funds; provided, however, that if a candidate contributes more than two thousand five hundred dollars ($2500) during an election cycle to his or her campaign from his or her personal funds, then the limitation on contributions that may be made to or accepted by other candidates for the same city elective office, and their controlled committees, shall be increased to five hundred dollars. Loans made to a candidate by a commercial lending institution in the regular course of business on the same terms available to members of the public will be considered a contribution of personal funds for purposes of this section.

A candidate who contributes more than $2500 during an election cycle to his or her campaign from his or her personal funds shall notify the city clerk in writing within twenty-four hours after making the contribution that causes the total contributed by the candidate to exceed $2500, which notification shall be available for review by the public upon receipt by the city clerk. Notification shall be provided by one of the following methods:

a. facsimile transmission;
b. telegram;
c. guaranteed overnight delivery through the United States Postal Service; or
d. personal delivery.

3. Written Solicitations by Candidates. Any candidate or his or her controlled committee making a written solicitation for a contribution for the candidate's campaign for city elective office shall include the following written notice in no less than eight-point type on each such solicitation:

Notice

The West Sacramento Municipal Code limits the amount a contributor may give to a candidate for elective office to an aggregate total of $250. This includes contributions to the candidate, to persons or committees controlled by the candidate, and to persons or committees making independent expenditures for or against the candidate.

If the maximum contribution amount for a candidate has been increased to five hundred dollars pursuant to Section 2.18.050.A.1, the dollar amount in that candidate's written notices may be increased from "$250" to "$500".

4. Exception for Campaign Indebtedness. A contribution specifically made to, accepted by and expended by a candidate or incumbent for the purpose of eliminating campaign debts incurred by the candidate or incumbent in the course of a previous campaign for city elective office shall be considered a contribution made and accepted during the election cycle in which the debts were incurred.

B. Contribution Limitations to Persons or Committees Making Independent Expenditures.

1. Limitation. No person shall make, and no person or committee making independent expenditures supporting or opposing a candidate for city elective office shall accept, any contribution which would cause the total amount contributed by that person during any election cycle in support of or in opposition to that candidate to exceed two hundred fifty dollars.

2. Written Solicitations by Persons Making Independent Expenditures or by Independent Expenditure Committees. Any individual or independent expenditure committee making a written solicitation for a contribution in support of or in opposition to a candidate for city elective office shall include the following written notice in no less than eight-point type on each such solicitation:

Notice

The West Sacramento Municipal Code limits the amount that a contributor may give to persons or committees making independent expenditures in support of or in opposition to a candidate for city elective office to a total of $250 for each candidate. This includes contributions to the candidate, persons or committees controlled by the candidate.

3. Nothing contained in this Section 2.18.050.B is intended as, or shall be interpreted to be, a limitation on the right of a person to make independent expenditures.

C. Late Contributions. Late contributions shall be reported in accordance with California Government Code Section 84203.

2.18.060 This Section has been Reserved.

2.18.070 Making and Acceptance of a Contribution.

For purposes of this chapter, a contribution shall be considered to have been "made" and "accepted" as follows:

A. Monetary Contributions.

1. Making of Monetary Contributions. For purposes of the contribution limitations of this chapter, a monetary contribution is "made" on the date the contribution is mailed, delivered or otherwise transmitted to the candidate, controlled committee, or person or committee making independent expenditures. The date of the check or other negotiable instrument by which the contribution is made may be presumed by the candidate, committee, or person receiving the contribution to be the date on which the contribution is mailed, delivered or otherwise transmitted, unless it is known to the candidate, committee, or person receiving the contribution to be later than the date the contribution is mailed, delivered or otherwise transmitted, in which case the earlier date shall be considered the date on which the contribution is "made."

2. Acceptance of Monetary Contributions. For purposes of the contribution limits of this chapter, a monetary contribution shall be deemed "accepted" on the date that it is made; provided that a monetary contribution shall not be considered accepted for purposes of this chapter if it is not cashed, negotiated or deposited and, in addition, is returned to the donor within fourteen days of receipt.

B. Nonmonetary Contributions.

1. Making of Nonmonetary Contributions. A nonmonetary contribution is "made" by the contributor on the earlier of the following dates:

a. The date that funds are expended by the contributor for goods or services if the specific expenditure is made at the request of the candidate, controlled committee, or person or committee making independent expenditures;

b. The date that the candidate, controlled committee, or person or committee making independent expenditures, or agent of the candidate, controlled committee, or person or committee making independent expenditures obtains possession or control of the goods or services; or

c. The date that the candidate, controlled committee, or person or committee making independent expenditures otherwise receives the benefit of the expenditure.

2. Acceptance of Nonmonetary Contributions. A nonmonetary contribution is deemed "accepted" on the date that it is "made" by the contributor; provided that a nonmonetary contribution shall be deemed not to have been accepted for purposes of this chapter if it is returned within fourteen days of having been made by returning to the contributor any of the following:

a. The nonmonetary contribution;

b. Its monetary equivalent; or

c. The monetary amount by which the value of the nonmonetary contribution exceeds the contribution limits of this chapter.

2.18.080 Aggregation of Contributions.

A. All contributions made during an election cycle directly to a candidate or to any of the candidate's controlled committees shall be aggregated for purposes of the two-hundred-fifty dollar individual contribution limitation established in Section 2.18.050(A).

B. The limit established in Section 2.18.050 pertains to the aggregate total of all contributions made during an election cycle for or against a candidate for elective office. This amount includes the total of the contributions to the candidate, to the candidate's controlled committees, and to persons or committees making independent expenditures for or against the candidate.

C. All payments made by a person or organization whose contributions or expenditure activities are financed, maintained or controlled by any corporation, labor organization, association, political party or any other person or committee, including any parent, subsidiary, branch, division, department or local unit of the corporation, labor organization, association, political party or any other person, or by any group of such persons, shall be considered to be made by the person financing, maintaining or controlling the contribution or expenditure.

D. Two or more persons shall be treated as one and the same person for purposes of the contribution limitations set forth in Section 2.18.050, and their contributions shall be aggregated and shall not exceed the limitations set forth in Section 2.18.050, in the following situations:

1. Related Entities. Two or more entities shall be treated as one person when such entities:

a. Share the majority of members of their boards of directors;

b. Share two or more corporate officers;

c. Are owned or controlled by the same majority shareholder or shareholders; or

d. Are in a parent-subsidiary relationship. A parent-subsidiary relationship exists when one corporation directly or indirectly owns shares possessing more than fifty percent of the voting power of another corporation.

2. Controlling Interest. A person and any general or limited partnership in which the person is a general partner, or a person and any corporation in which the person owns a controlling interest, shall be treated as one person. For purposes of this subsection, a controlling interest in a corporation means fifty percent or more of the voting power of a corporation.

E. Notwithstanding the provisions of Section 2.18.130, candidates, controlled committees, and persons or committees making independent expenditures shall not be deemed to be in violation of this section if any of them accepts a contribution from a person that was made in violation of the contribution limits of this chapter. It is the intent of this section to make contributors, and not candidates, controlled committees, or persons or committees making independent expenditures, liable for violations occurring as a result of the applicability of this chapter to contribution limits.

F. A candidate for city elective office may transfer campaign funds from one controlled committee to another controlled committee of the same candidate. Contributions transferred shall be attributed to specific contributors using methods set forth in the Political Reform Act. Transferred funds, when aggregated with all other contributions from the same contributor, may not exceed the limits set forth in section 2.18.050.

2.18.090 Contributions by Spouses and Children.

A. Contributions by a husband and wife shall be treated as separate contributions and shall not be aggregated.

B. Contributions by dependent children shall be treated as contributions by their parents and attributed proportionately to each parent (one-half to each parent or the total amount to a single custodial parent).

2.18.100 Contributions by Spouse, Children or Family Members of Candidate.

Contributions to a candidate by his or her spouse, children or any other family member shall be subject to the contribution limits of this chapter.

2.18.110 Effective date of Contribution Limitations.

A. Notwithstanding the date of adoption and the effective date of the ordinance codified in this chapter, and except as otherwise provided in Sections 2.18.110.B, C, and D, the contribution limits of this chapter shall apply to contributions made on or after January 1, 1993, to:

1. Any candidate for city elective office, including an incumbent, who sought or who will seek election in any election for city elective office. Contributions made prior to January 1, 1993, shall not be considered for purposes of the individual contribution limits contained in Sections 2.18.050 and 2.18.080; and

B. Contributions made prior to the effective date of this Ordinance No. 02-5, shall not be considered or aggregated for purposes of the contribution limits contained in Sections 2.18.050.B and 2.18.080.B.

C. In determining whether a candidate's contributions toward his or her own campaign have triggered the increased contribution limitations for other candidates provided for in Section 2.18.050.A.1, contributions by a candidate toward his or her own campaign which were made prior to May 16, 2002 shall be counted, but only up to two thousand five hundred dollars, regardless of the amount actually contributed by the candidate prior to May 16, 2002.

D. No candidate, controlled committee, or person or committee making independent expenditures shall be deemed to have violated any provisions of this chapter solely because contributions in excess of the limitations contained in Sections 2.18.050 and 2.18.060 were accepted or made before the date specified in subsections A or B above. Nothing in this subsection shall be deemed to require the return of any contribution made prior to the effective date of the ordinance codified in this chapter.

2.18.120 Application of State Laws.

Nothing in this chapter shall be deemed to exempt any person from complying with applicable provisions of any other laws of this state, including but not limited to, the contribution limitations contained within the California Political Reform Act for special elections.

2.18.130 Enforcement.

A. Any person who willfully or knowingly violates any provision of this chapter is guilty of a misdemeanor.

B. If the City Clerk discovers through a campaign statement that any provision of this chapter has been violated, the city clerk shall promptly notify the District Attorney.

2.18.140 Severability.

If any provision of this chapter, or the application of any such provision to any person or circumstances, shall be held invalid, the remainder of this chapter, to the extent it can be given effect, or the application of those provisions to persons or circumstances other than those as to which it is held invalid, shall not be affected thereby, and to this end the provisions of this chapter are severable.

Section 3. Effective Date and Notice. This ordinance shall take effect thirty (30) days after its adoption and, pursuant to Resolution 99-46, published in summary format prior to adoption and within 15 days after adoption in a paper of general circulation published and circulated within the City of West Sacramento.

PASSED AND ADOPTED by the City Council of the City of West Sacramento this 9th day of June, 2004 by the following vote:
AYES: Kristoff, Montemayor, Pierson, Villegas, Cabaldon
NOES: None
ABSENT: None

Dark Harvest

(NAPS)—A former female police officer finds herself drawn into the attacks that terrorize an Ohio Amish community in Dark Harvest (MIRA Books, $5.99), the haunting new novel from USA TODAY bestselling author Karen Harper.

Kat Lindley thought she had seen it all during her days on the Columbus police force. However, after a child is murdered at the hands of his own father, Kat blames herself for the tragedy. In hopes of erasing the nightmarish events that ended her career, she moves to a small community populated mostly with Amish farming families.

While saving to start her own business, Kat takes a job as a local emergency dispatcher. But all too quickly Kat finds the sense of solace she's discovered fading away. The inhabitants of this peaceful community are under attack—with the children being targeted in these mysterious acts of violence. When local Amish leader Luke Brand finds his own family under siege by these unknown assailants, he knows he has no choice but to turn to the world outside the Amish sect for help.

Dark Harvest is the second book in Harper's suspenseful series set in the Maplecreek Amish community.

OPINION

News-Ledger Editorial

New blood needed

Feathers were ruffled.

Mayor Christopher Cabaldon – a past candidate for state office who widely seen as politically ambitious – suggested that a training program for school board candidates might help draw new blood to the board. And that would be a good thing, said the Mayor, who has called the school board dysfunctional. A lot of people agreed with that label – although among them were not lot of the school board's members.

Everyone agrees the school board's job in West Sacramento is important, and it is hard to argue the point that too few people have taken an interest in running for a seat on the board. In fact, so few people seek election that most of those who bother to campaign seriously get elected simply through lack of serious opposition.

At the moment, the school board is doing fairly well. But it is also hard to dispute that over the past decade or more, Washington Unified has been racked by a serious of high management mistakes. These have often been very avoidable bloopers, of the kind that bring to mind an old joke with the punch line, "well, if you saw it, then why did you step in it?"

Gettin more people to run for school board would be a good thing. There will be three of the board's five seats on the ballot this year (a majority), with two incumbents planning to step down and a third seeking to hold his post. It's a great opportunity for new blood.

And whether you like the proposal's messenger or not, the proposal to give an orientation on school board service to people thinking about running for the board is a good thing.

And incidentally, the proposal is blossoming into similar proposals for advance training to those interested in running for the city council or county supervisor's seat. That, too, would be fine.

So who should run for the school board?

Unfortunately, it's not enough just to be passionate about "the kids." Serving on a school board is a management position, and probably the most helpful skills are basic management skills – how to hire, how to supervise, and how to look at a complicated budget. Board members should be analytical and independent minded. They should have a knack for asking the "right" question. They should be inclined to be frugal with large pots of money.

Who should sit on the school board?

A variety of people, with a variety of life experiences. Some should have experience with finance. Several should have experience in higher education. Somebody on the board should know what education is valuable for kids who will go straight to "the real world" without college. Most board members should have experience in managing people. One or two might provide insight gleaned from their teaching experience. A board member might be skilled at working within the state government or some other bureaucracy.

A number of better candidates have thought about serving on the board in the past, and shied away due to the fear of being sucked into board politics and resultant misery. So another helpful quality is the ability to do your homework, do the best you can at a board meeting, and then go home and don't lose any sleep over it.

These are just some of the desirable traits that could help make WUSD's school board better, and its school district as a result. Maybe you recognize some of these qualities in yourself.

The election is in November.

Letters to the Editor

Get rid of pennies

I agree with Mr. William Safire (of the New York Times) that our penny is outdated and should be discontinued. All purchases should be rounded off to the nearest nickel. And, as I also argued roughly three years ago, this action should be taken at the same time as the following: Discontinue the $1 bill in favor of expanding the use of the silver dollar, having as many versions of silver dollars as we have former presidents (just as we have as many versions of quarters as we have states/photos/logos) and expand the use of the $2 bill to half the present volume of $1 bills.

Those fearful of losing jobs should simply argue that new silver dollars be made in zinc and copper (as are now pennies), which would more clearly differentiate new dollar coins from quarters, which are too closely the same size. Pennies could be recycled into dollar coins, too.

Three years (or so) ago when I made the above suggestions to the U.S. Mint, they were rejected, claiming "over 70% profit was made making pennies..." But if that argument is value, why not just manufacture enough money (coin and paper) to pay off all government deficits and provide surpluses to eliminate taxes at all levels for say five years. Now that should really give our economy recovery whenever needed and then some.

WILLIAM A. LOWELL
West Sacramento

Where's you allegiance?

I hope you read the "major Sacramento newspaper" last Sunday, since we, West Sacramento, pride ourselves in how well we perform "D.U.I. checkpoints", and are teaching others to do the same. I was so aghast at the possibility that we were inculcating their following guest editorial viewpoint to other agencies that I sent the following letter: "Re: `Other Views' 06/13/04. I noted with great sadness, which morphed into even greater anger, the article written by Sacramento's newest police chief and progressive politico; lamenting his officers`...wasting their time...' by enforcing the laws of the United States of America. His solution apparently is for California to preempt U.S. laws and act as its own sovereign entity, independent of federal law, giving separate documentation for what is available to any foreign national; the international driver's license. To obtain said license, one must simply comply with the various laws of the land from which one comes, as well as those of the host country. Of course, complying with those laws would make confiscation of illegal aliens transportation/work/property(ies) unnecessary. They would have the proper documentation in hand and there would be only that pesky undocumented emigrant thing to ignore. It's a minor problem, since they wouldn't qualify for the rights of citizenship with such a license. He also apparently feels that we're `Maintaining an attractive nuisance' by being too prosperous."

"I question you sir: To what flag, from which country, did you pledge to uphold the laws of when you took your oath of office? It certainly wasn't this one."

West Sac needs more fire protection

Editor's note: This letter appeared in last week's News-Ledger. But due to a production error, the name of its author, Mark Johannessen, was removed. The News-Ledger apologizes for the error, and presents the letter one more time.

Most people living in or moving to West Sacramento do not realize the under staffing that is occurring in our fire department and the threat that poses to our safety.

A recent study shows that our city currently sends 10 to 11 firefighters, plus a duty chief, to a typical structure fire.

The National Fire Protection Association recommends 15 firefighters and one commander. Likewise, for each engine and fire company, four firefighters are recommended, while West Sacramento only sends three. That means sometimes critical equipment is being used without enough firefighters to handle it.

The study concludes that in order to have

"The Day After Tomorrow"

Running time: 125 minutes
MPAA rating: PG-13

"The Day After Tomorrow" isn't really the end of the world, but after about an hour into watching this turkey, you'll be praying for it.

OK, I'll admit that the part of the movie with Mother Nature Gone Wild was a lot of fun to watch. The tornadoes and hailstorms and flooding and all the global destruction was cool. That's the reason I didn't give this movie an F. The problem is, that awesome special-effects sequence lasts about 30 minutes. Which means there's still 90 minutes of very bad movie wrapped around it.

Making the best of a bad script is Dennis Quaid, who stars as Jack Hall, a climatologist whose findings reveal that the planet is about to experience another catastrophic Ice Age. Hall reports his findings to the president, who dismisses the data as sensationalism. Big mistake.

Next thing you know, ice caps are melting and the whole planet's weather goes higgledy-piggledy. (Yes, "higgledy-piggledy" is a science term. Back off.)

And speaking of science, there's a lot of Bad Science in this movie. The only reason I bring this up is because many people (including Al Gore) are using this movie to advance an environmentalist agenda. Give me a break. Using a big, dumb Hollywood movie as the foundation for legislation is ridiculous. That's like using "The Matrix" as the basis for funding computer-literacy programs — "Cuz, if we don't teach kids how to work computers, then how will we be able to fight the alien machines when they come?" See how stupid that sounds?

Bottom Line: If you like watching stuff blow up, see this movie at a matinee and leave after everything freezes over. Otherwise, wait for it to be a rental.

EASY, ELEGANT STRAWBERRY DESSERTS

The California Strawberry Commission reports a bumper crop of berries that not only are beautiful but are full of natural flavor. I just finished off a one-pound pack I bought several days ago, and every one of them was firm and juicy.

The desserts that follow are easy to prepare but elegant to present. The Split is made with devil's food cupcakes, either homemade or store-bought. In contrast, the Roulade is made with an angel food cake mix.

STRAWBERRY-CHOCOLATE DEVIL'S CAKE SPLIT

- 1 1/2 cups whipping cream
- 1/4 cup sugar, divided
- 2 tablespoons unsweetened cocoa powder
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 5 cups (about 24 ounces) halved, stemmed California strawberries
- *6 baked devil's food cupcakes, unfrosted
- 6 tablespoons chocolate syrup or fudge topping

In large mixer bowl, combine cream, 2 tablespoons of sugar, cocoa and vanilla; beat to form soft peaks. Set aside. In medium bowl, combine strawberries and remaining 2 tablespoons sugar; toss lightly. To assemble, cut cupcakes horizontally in half. Place bottom of each cupcake on individual serving plate; top with 1/2 cup strawberries and 1/3 cup cream mixture. Cover with cupcake top; garnish with remaining cream mixture and strawberries. Drizzle each serving with 1 tablespoon chocolate syrup. Makes 6 servings.

*Use home-baked cupcakes or unfrosted cupcakes purchased from a bakery; remove from paper liners, if used.

STRAWBERRY AND LEMON CREAM ROULADE

- 1 (16-ounce) package angel food cake mix
- Powdered sugar
- 6 cups (2 pounds) whole stemmed California strawberries, divided
- *1 (8-ounce) package cream cheese, softened
- 1/2 cup powdered sugar
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 2 teaspoons grated lemon peel

Heat oven to 350 F. Line 15-by-10-inch jelly roll baking pan with wax paper or aluminum foil. Do not grease. Prepare cake mix as package directs. Pour batter into prepared pan, spreading evenly. Bake 20 to 24 minutes or until golden brown and top springs back when touched lightly. While still warm, loosen cake from edges of pan; turn upside down onto large baking sheet. Remove wax paper; turn cake onto towel sprinkled with powdered sugar. Roll up cake with towel, beginning at short end; cool on wire rack.

Meanwhile, for Lemon Cream Filling, beat together softened cream cheese, 1/2 cup powdered sugar, lemon juice and lemon peel until smooth. On clean surface, unroll cake. Trim any hard edges from cake. Spread evenly with Lemon Cream filling to within 1/2 inch of edges. Cut 1 cup of strawberries into slices; arrange in even layer over filling. Roll up; transfer, seam side down, to serving platter. Cover and refrigerate 30 minutes to firm up filling.

In blender container, process 2 cups of the strawberries until smooth, sweeten with sugar, as desired. Set aside. Cut remaining 3 cups strawberries into quarters; sweeten with sugar, as desired.

To serve cake, sprinkle top of cake with powdered sugar; cut into 12 slices. Serve each on dessert plate with 1/4 cup quartered strawberries and about 1 tablespoon strawberry (pureed) sauce. Makes 12 servings.

*For a lower-fat version, substitute reduced-fat cream cheese for regular cream cheese and omit lemon juice; proceed as recipe directs for Lemon Cream.

Q. After fans were promised a "Sex and the City" movie would be produced after the series ended, I just read there won't be any. What's the story here? — B.L.

A. The story, presumably, is that while three of the show's stars — Sarah Jessica Parker, Cynthia Nixon and Kristin Davis — agreed to do the project, Kim Cattrall, who played the more sexually active character of Samantha, balked. Her representatives claimed she had already waited too long to be shown the new script (she had script approval; her co-stars did not) and couldn't afford more delays because of other offers. Some insiders, however, hint she may have decided it might be best to break with her "Sex and the City" image altogether. Whatever, as of now, there will be no recast of Samantha, and no movie. But things can change. As Cattrall's rep said, "Kim ... would be happy to revisit the project in the future."

Q. Is ABC canceling "Alias"? I get that feeling from what I've been reading about the network being disappointed in the ratings. If they are canceling it, why are they not announcing that fact? — Cathy N.

A. First, please note that ABC has called everyone on the series back to the set. This obviously means that the show — which continues to be a critical success, but isn't pulling in the numbers the network hoped for — is still on its program schedule. However, instead of making its fourth-season debut in the fall, as is typical of returning series, the new year for "Alias" will start in January 2005. The network says this will enable it to air the series in a full, uninterrupted 20-episode season.

Q. In the "Lord of the Rings" movies, is one of the characters the son of Patty Duke? I say yes, but my friend says no. She says Patty had a daughter, not a son. Please settle this for us. — Maureen H.

Kim Cattrall

A. Sean Patrick Astin, who played Sam in the "Lord of the Rings" trilogy is, indeed, one of two sons of Patty Duke ("The Patty Duke Show") by her marriage to John Astin ("The Addams Family"). The other Duke/Astin offspring is Mackenzie Astin ("Laughter on the 23rd Floor").

Q. I just read that Julia Roberts will have a child early next year. Because she supposedly had trouble conceiving before, has she indicated that she underwent any treatments to become pregnant — especially since there's a report she's having a multiple birth? — Lisa T.

A. Julia Roberts' spokesperson says the fact is she and her cinematographer husband, Daniel Moder (who directed the photography on the second unit of her recent film "Mona Lisa Smile"), planned to wait awhile after their July 4, 2002 marriage before having a baby. So the pregnancy is pretty much right on schedule. As for the early reports of her having a multiple birth, Roberts is expecting to deliver twins in January — a phenomenon, by the way, that runs in her family.

The Great Influenza: The Epic Story of the Deadliest Plague in History
by John M. Barry
(Viking, $29.95)
Reviewed by Larry Cox

No disease — before or since — even remotely resembles the influenza epidemic that struck in 1918. It was horrifying. Victims turned dark blue from lack of oxygen, suffered crippling aches and bled from their eyes. The epidemic claimed more people in 24 weeks than AIDS has killed in 24 years, and more lives in a year than the Black Death of the Middle Ages took in a century. At least 100 million people eventually died.

In "The Great Influenza: The Epic Story of the Deadliest Plague in History," historian John M. Barry reveals that the 1918 influenza pandemic probably began in Kansas when sick farm animals spread a new virus to soldiers on leave from Fort Riley. The soldiers carried the virus back to camp, and from there it quickly moved throughout the country and eventually to Europe.

As the virus continued to mutate, it quickly became the deadliest influenza ever known. Bodies piled up in homes with no one to bury them, and governments throughout the world were crippled.

One of the true heroes during this ordeal was William James, a Harvard medical professor. James placed himself in the path of the epidemic so that he and other researchers could identify it and, perhaps, find some means to control it. The research James and his colleagues conducted during this critical time led to some of the most important scientific advances of the century.

Barry has written a frightening, cautionary book that is meticulously researched and especially relevant today, when new infectious diseases seem to surface on an almost daily basis. "The Great Influenza" is historical reporting at its very best and will stand as the definitive account of this terrifying period.

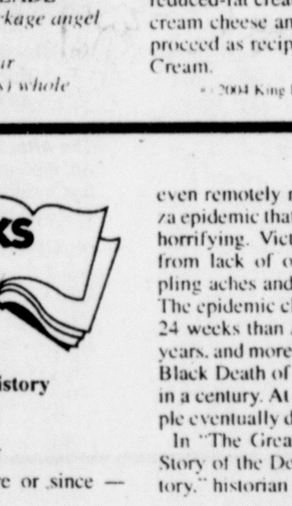
A Conversation With Chris Bruno

*The USA Network's series "The Dead Zone" has returned for its third year on the air. The show focuses on a man named John Smith, played by Anthony Michael Hall ("The Pirates of Silicon Valley"), who sustains a severe brain injury in a car crash and lies in a coma for six years. When he awakens, he finds he has a power to "see" peoples' futures by touching them or their possessions. This "gift," he's told, is the awakening of his brain's "dead zone," an area that may hold a number of special "powers," but which lies dormant until aroused by an extraordinary incident. Others in the cast include Nicole deBoer ("Star Trek: Deep Space 9") as Sarah, John's former fiancee who was pregnant when he was hurt and who married a friend, Walt Bannerman, before her baby's birth; David Ogden Stiers ("M*A*S*H"), a reverend and community leader who may know more about John than he has revealed; and Chris Bruno ("The Force") as Sheriff Walt Bannerman, who has raised Sarah and John's son as his own, and remains uncertain about John's re-emergence into Sarah's life.*



"The Dead Zone"
USA Network
Sundays

Chris Bruno says this season will hold a lot of surprises for fans of "The Dead Zone."

For example, Bruno says, "We'll learn more about the characters. We'll also get more insight into the relationship between Johnny and Walt. Even though Johnny has said he wouldn't interfere in Sarah and Walt's marriage, Walt can't be sure about that."

Some fans have wondered if Walt — as a police officer — stumbled on a way to dispose of Johnny once and for all, would he take it?

"I wouldn't think so," Bruno says. "Walt may feel threatened by him on a deeply personal level — he not only worries that Sarah might go back to him, but that Johnny might also take the child Walt loves and considers his son. Still, all that aside, Walt is a decent guy: I don't think he could commit a deliberate act of murder. But," Bruno adds, "who knows? I've done enough television — including two soaps (he played Michael Delaney on 'All My Children' and Dennis Wheeler on 'Another World') — to realize that any storyline can be changed whenever the writers decide."

Asked if he would want to have the same "gift" that John Smith possesses, Bruno says, "Probably not. As we see with Johnny, his life is no longer his own; it belongs to all those other lives he touches."

What if the "gift" were restricted to his own future, and not the fate of others?

"Maybe I'd be tempted for a moment. But I think it's better to make your own choices, and if you make a mistake, you deal with it and go on."

Chris Bruno comes from an acting family. (He recently co-starred in an independent film with his brother, Dylan Bruno; and his father, stage and film veteran Scott Bruno.) However, he says he originally planned a career in sports. But despite all the pro offers that come to someone with the ability to throw a 90 mph fastball, he says, "doing school productions (at the State University of New York at Stonybrook) helped me realize I'd be happier going into the family business. And I've never regretted making that choice."

In Focus

On Thursday, July 1 (check local listings), nine-time Grammy Award winner Sheryl Crow stars on the second half of the PBS "Soundstage" concert series special (the first half airs June 24 — again, check local listings) to offer up some of her classic blues, rock and country music, including "Steve McQueen" and "Sweet Rosalyn." She also includes the perennial favorites "Redemption Day" and "Home." Asked at a press conference why these songs are almost always part of her performance repertoire, Crow says it's because "it's important to stay true to what you believe" (and) these songs reflect her feelings about "being aware" of what is really happening to real people in the real world.

DIAL TONES: Speaking of the real world, how much do we really know about those teenagers who strap explosives around their waists and go out to kill as many people as they can (including themselves) in the name of what they've been told is a holy cause? On July 1 (check local listings), the PBS series "Wide Angle" airs "Suicide Bombers," a chilling film made in an Israeli prison with three young men who tell documentarian Tom Roberts about their commitment to shahid (martyrdom in service to Islam) and why they strapped on the explosives and were prepared to kill and die, but were unable to complete their missions. It's a gripping look into the often unreported or misreported motives of those who spread so much death and destruction across the world these days.

"ER" star Noah Wyle spent his first week of spring hiatus at New York's Harlem Hospital talking to the city's emergency room directors about the health consequences for patients with no health insurance. Wyle is very much involved in supporting legislation that would make it possible for everyone in the country to have medical insurance.

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On June 26, 1541, Francisco Pizarro, the governor of Peru and conqueror of the Inca civilization, is assassinated in Lima during dinner by Spanish rivals.

• On June 22, 1937, Joe Louis wins the world heavyweight boxing title with an eighth-round knockout of American Jim Braddock in Chicago's Comiskey Park. Louis would successfully defend his title 25 times, scoring 21 knockouts, the longest reign in the history of the heavyweight division.

• On June 27, 1939, one of the most famous scenes in movie history is filmed — Rhett Butler and Scarlett O'Hara's parting in "Gone with the Wind." Director Victor Fleming also shot the scene using the alternate line, "Frankly, my dear, I just don't care," in case film censors objected to the word "damn."

• On June 25, 1950, armed forces from communist North Korea smash into South Korea, surprising the South Korean army (and the small U.S. force stationed in the country) and setting off the Korean War.

• On June 24, 1960, after more than 7,000 episodes, "The Romance of Helen Trent," one of radio's longest-running soap operas, airs its last episode. On the air since 1933, the melodrama revolved around Helen Trent, a fashion designer.

• On June 21, 1982, John W. Hinckley's defense attorneys argued that their client was ill with narcissistic personality disorder and had a pathological obsession with the 1976 film "Taxi Driver."

MEASURE K REPORT

Measures J & K
In November 2002, West Sacramento voters approved two measures that established a sales tax override that was intended to supplement the city's general fund for general government purposes. Measure J was an advisory measure that described the City Council's conceptual plan on how the money should be spent, and Measure K was the measure that actually implemented the sales tax override. The initial amount generated from the ½% override was estimated to be $5 million annually.

How Measure K Works
Measure K specified that the ½% override would consist of ¼% that would cease after ten years, and ¼% that would continue indefinitely. The funds generated by the override have been divided into two categories: a base allocation and a capital allocation. The base allocation is funded with the ongoing ¼%, and the capital allocation is funded with the ¼% that will cease after ten years. The base allocation is to be used for ongoing programs and activities; the capital allocation is to be used for specific projects. In the case of capital allocation, bonding and borrowing against the projected annual cash flow has enabled a larger amount of funding to be available at the onset of the ten-year period.

This Report
Measure K also included the requirement that "the citizens shall receive annually a published report of revenues and disbursements following a public hearing." A public hearing for that purpose was held on May 5, 2004. The purpose of this report is to comply with publishing requirement and to present the appropriations and projects that have resulted from Measure K, with reference to the direction of the advisory measure.

In the information presented below, Allocation refers to allocation of Measure K funds pursuant to Measure J, while Actual refers to actual expenditure of those funds.

LEGAL NOTICE
Notice of Public Hearing
NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that a Public Hearing will be held by the Yolo County Board of Supervisors at its meeting on June 22, 2004, at the Board of Supervisor's Chamber, 625 Court Street, Room 206, Woodland, CA, at 9:45 a.m., to consider the following:

Resolutions approving Fire District Development Impact Mitigation Fees for the Knights Landing, Dunnigan, Yolo and Clarksburg Fire Protection Districts. The proposed mitigation fees are based upon each fire district's Capital Plan and Development Impact Fee Study that was previously approved by the fire district boards. Each district's Study identifies that district's future needs for new facilities and equipment, documents how much of the costs of new facilities and equipment are attributable to new development, and identifies a fee structure that fairly apportions those costs to new development.

Data is available indicating the amount of cost or estimated cost required to provide the service for which the fees would be levied, and the revenue sources anticipated to provide the service, including General Fund revenue.

Copies of the proposed Fee Schedules, Studies and all supporting documentation will be available for public inspection at the meeting. Interested parties may also call 666-8195 to obtain a copy of the materials or to arrange an appointment to examine them at the Clerk of the Board's Office located at 625 Court Street, Room 204, Woodland, CA.

Persons interested should appear at the above public hearing on Tuesday, June 22, 2004 in order to make their comments known. Persons who are unable to attend may direct their written comments to Board of Supervisors, 625 Court Street, Room 204, Woodland, CA 95695.

NOTICE OF AVAILABILITY OF DRAFT ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT REPORT

The Washington Unified School District (WUSD) has directed the preparation of an environmental impact report (EIR) for the project identified below in compliance with California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) and the State CEQA Guidelines. WUSD is the lead agency for the proposed project under CEQA.

Project Location: The proposed project site is located on approximately 100 acres of agricultural land in the southern portion of West Sacramento, Yolo County, California. The site is in the Southport area of West Sacramento and is bordered by Linden Road on the north, Jefferson Boulevard on the west, the former Yolo Shortline Railroad tracks on the east, and the Perkins Road easement on the south.

Description of the Proposed Project: The WUSD is proposing to construct and operate a new high school with capacity to accommodate approximately 3,000 students on a traditional calendar. Facilities would include classrooms, laboratories, a library, an administration building, food service facilities, a stadium, a performing arts center, and lighted athletic facilities for a wide range of sports. The proposed project would replace the existing River City High School, which would be converted to a middle school. The City of West Sacramento proposes to use 20 acres as a joint-use community park/sports complex at the site. The community park/sports complex would include an aquatics center; lighted baseball, soccer, and softball fields; concessions; restrooms; dressing rooms; and playgrounds, along with a community library and possible other uses.

This draft EIR evaluates the proposed project facilities but does not analyze a detailed site plan for the high school or community park/sports complex. If the proposed project is approved, a site design committee would work in cooperation with an architectural consultant selected by WUSD to finalize the site plan.

The draft EIR identifies impacts of the proposed project related to the following resources and issues that would be potentially significant or significant before mitigation: traffic and transportation (intersections, vehicle and pedestrian/bicycle access conflicts, and vehicle trips), air quality (construction emissions), noise (construction noise and land use compatibility), public services (public utility infrastructure and water supply demand), water resources (water quality and drainage), terrestrial biological resources (waters of the United States, riparian habitat, loss of special-status plant and animal species habitat), cultural resources, geology and soils (seismic hazards and erosion).

The following significant impacts of the proposed project would not be reduced to a less-than-significant level: Direct Conversion of 53 Acres of Prime Farmland and 44 Acres of Farmland of Statewide Importance to Nonagricultural Urban Use; Increased Traffic Resulting from Cumulative Development in the Project Study Area (by 2025); Generation of Temporary PM10 Emissions During Construction; Long-term Operational Increases in Onsite Stationary- and Area-Source Noise Levels; and Increases in Single-event Noise Levels

Public Review Period: The Draft EIR is being circulated for review and comment to local, state, and federal agencies involved with the project and made available to interested organizations and individuals for a review period of 45 days starting June 14, 2004, and ending July 29, 2004. Written comments on the environmental document must be received no later than 5 p.m. on July 29, 2004, at the following address:

Mr. Rob Corley, Acting Director, Planning/New Construction, Washington Unified School District, 930 Westacre Road, West Sacramento, CA 95691, email: rcorley@sbcglobal.net

Copies of the draft EIR can be reviewed at the following locations:

Washington Unified School District, 930 Westacre Road, West Sacramento, CA; City of West Sacramento Community Development Department, 1110 West Capitol Avenue, 2nd Floor, West Sacramento, CA; Yolo County Library—Arthur F. Turner Branch, 1212 Merkley Avenue, West Sacramento, CA

Agency representatives and interested individuals may also attend a public meeting to provide comments on the contents of the draft EIR. The public meeting will be held on June 24, 2004, beginning at 7:00 p.m., at the West Sacramento Civic Center, 110 West Capitol Avenue in West Sacramento.

Port master plan

What is the future of waterborne transportation and the Port of Sacramento? A "kick-off" meeting for a new planning process for the port is scheduled for Wed., June 23, from 7-8:30 p.m. at the West Sacramento Civic Center. The "joint planning process" is co-sponsored by West Sacramento, Yolo County, Sacramento County and the Port of Sacramento. RSVP to (916) 925-0130 before June 21 to attend the meeting.

Heal[illegible] carnival

A School Readiness Health Carnival is scheduled for Wed., June 23, from 4-7 p.m. at Westfield Village Elementary School's cafeteria, 508 Poplar Avenue. The event is intended for families with kids up to five years old. Including will be screenings for vision, dental, growth, hearing and developmental assessments. There will also be information on immunization programs, nutrition, family counseling, parenting classes, child care and family literacy. For more information, call Terezia, 375-7640. Sponsored by the local school district and Yolo Co. Children & Families Commission.

Kids' football

Attention, past and present members of the West Sacramento Bears or West Sacramento Junior Raiders football leagues: the Junior Raiders needs all available football equipment, and asks you to double-check your house and garage for any equipment that may have been overlooked at the end of a season. Please call (916) 519-2643 to arrange a pickup of any outstanding gear, no questions asked.

Tai-Chi-Chung

The city parks department offers a class in the gentle exercise technique of Tai-Chi-Chung, which was originally developed in China as a self-defense strategy. Instructor is Bradford Louie. Class meets Mondays 7-8 p.m. and Wednesdays 7-8 a.m. and is $10 per class with a five-use card available. Call 617-4620 for more information.

Casino trip

Holy Cross Altar Society presents a trip to the Silver Legacy in Reno on Sat., June 26, from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Cost is $25 and includes breakfast at Holy Cross Hall at 7:30 a.m.; homemade burritos on the bus; three raffle tickets; four bingo games; and a casino refund of $10 cash and a $5 food or drink coupon. Call Kathy Luna, 371-8358. Seats must be paid for by June 19; nonrefundable.

Old cell phones

Recycle your old cell phone by taking it to city hall, 1110 West Capitol Avenue. Also accepted for recycling are your old PDA, pager or two-way radio, as well as old batteries and chargers and accessories. Look for the drop-off box on the first floor near the Finance Department. Cell phones contain hazardous materials such as lead, arsenic and cadmium, which can cause environmental poisoning if sent to landfills.

Free concerts

The fifth annual "Harmony on the River" concert series is underway every Tuesday night on River Walk (near the ziggurat building) beginning June 8. Picnics are encouraged; light snacks are available for purchase. Scheduled for June 22 is the Sacramento Youth Band; William Florian will perform folk on July 6. Call 617-4620 for more information.

Be a Soroptimist!

Women are invited to join Soroptimist International of West Sacramento, which runs programs that benefit women, children and seniors. The organization has helped out programs such as the county battered women's shelter, Yolo Alternative School, and the John H. Jones Community Clinic, and annually awards scholarships and administers many other community service projects. Visit the group at a "meet and eat" session at Vince's Restaurant at 5:30 p.m. on the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month. Dinner is $11.50 per person. For more information, call 372-8691 or 371-7678.

'Camp Joy'

Joy Christian Ministries announces "Camp Joy," a camp for kids age 5-15 to be held July 5 to Aug. 6. Includes swimming, field trips and more. For more information, call 375-0066.

River Cats

The River City Baseball Booster Club invites you to its meeting at 6 p.m. on Wed., June 30, at Club Pheasant (no-host dinner). Guest speaker will be River Cats outfielder Steve Stanley, a second-round draft choice of the Oakland A's out of Notre Dame. Steve will sign autographs after the meeting. Reservations are required; call 371-5420.

Rep. Thompson

U.S. Rep. Mike Thompson will hold a barbecue, wine tasting and silent auction in conjunction with the River Cats game against the Tacoma Rainiers on Sun., June 27, at Raley Field. Thompson's event begins at 3:30 p.m. at the stadium and the game starts at 6:05 p.m. Tickets are $35 per person, including the barbecue, wine tasting and game. For ticket information, call Mary Jane Bowker, (707) 226-8989.

Casino trip

The Italian Catholic Federation #282 is planning a bus trip to Feather Falls Casino in Oroville on June 28, Cost of $18 includes a casino rebate of $10 cash. Departure from River Cities Funeral Chapel parking lot is at 9 a.m. and return at 5 p.m. Call 371-4871 for information or reservation.

Energy efficiency

Learn how to lower energy bills and stay cooler this summer. Attend a free "energy choices" workshop on Tuesdays, June 15, July 20 or Aug. 17, from 7-8 p.m. at the Turner library, 1212 Merkley Ave. Sponsor Valley Energy Efficiency Corp. will distribute a free set of compact fluorescent light bulbs (one per household). For more information, call (530) 753-9337 or visit www.yoloenergy.org.

Lighting help

Improve the quality of your business's lighting at little or no cost through the "Lights Lite" program, co-sponsored by Yolo County, West Sacramento and other Yolo cities as part of the Yolo Energy Efficiency Project. A typical small business may receive a lighting retrofit worth $1,100, but $900 or more of the cost is paid by the program. The business then benefits from reduced energy costs, with better color rendering and no buzzing or flickering tubes. Businesses in Yolo that participated last year created an annual average savings of about $1,700 on their electric bill. Call (530) 753-9337 or visit www.ci.west-sacramento.ca.us/cityhall/departments/redev/ed/lightslite.pdf.

Healthy living

The Yolo Co. Health Dept. is sponsoring free classes on healthy cooking (with new and easy recipes), and ideas on increasing exercise while having fun. A certificate of completion will be awarded for those who complete the eight-week series of weekly meetings, with new classes starting in mid-June, Monday through Friday. For more information, call Lynn Albrecht, (530) 666-8645 ext. 4161. Classes in English or Spanish.
